

I would like to register a complaint concerning the graphic commercials CBS and other networks are showing early in the afternoon on family shows. I have a 2 year old and I enjoy watching football and she will sometimes be in the room with me and watch a little bit. CBS loves to show promos for CSI which usually contains a dead body or the process of someone being murdered.

I know we have regulations not allowing the shows to air until late at night but why are they allowed to show violent advertisements early in the afternoon?
